Great to see you involved in our B-DLP. Welcome to FEG-UGA!

- We thank you for choosing the Distance Learning (DL) Bachelor programs in Economics & Management (B-DLP) at the Faculty of Economics of Grenoble (FEG) of the University of Grenoble Alpes (UGA).

- For 30 years, the FEG has been offering DLP for all academic degrees, undergraduate-graduate/post-graduate, from the first-year Bachelor’s degree to the second-year Master’s degree in Economics and Management.

- These programs are offered in French and in English to individual candidates but also to the students of our partner universities through the international agreements of the FEG with Ecuador, Lebanon, Morocco, Russia and Ukraine.
TARGET SKILLS

➔ The Economics and Management Degree aims at providing you with multidisciplinary knowledge in:

➔ Economics and Management,
   but also in ➔ Mathematics and Statistics,

➔ Computer science,

➔ Some sister-disciplines like law and sociology,
   as well as in ➔ Foreign languages (English, French), to name but a few examples.

Is the B-DLP different from « face-to-face » programs?

➔ B-DLP is not a specific diploma apart

➔ It leads to the same national French/European diplomas delivered by the FEG within the framework of the face-to-face system.

➔ B-DLP is organized to allow you to remotely follow the pedagogical and scientific model of face-to-face teaching and rests on the same courses given in face-to-face training.

➔ The DL programs therefore have the same requirements and evaluation criteria, required for the European validation of the diplomas awarded.
Peculiar organization of B-DLP

➔ B-DLP requires a particular organization both pedagogically and technically.

➔ It is a set of university distance learning courses, accompanied by specific pedagogical services and materials such as:

➔ Courses,

➔ Exercises et other training materials on line,

➔ Audio/video capsules & materials;

➔ E-books,

➔ Exchanges and communication platforms with the staff and professors,

➔ Review sessions (in-person and through videoconferences).

These services and supports are provided by the FEG regular lecturers (teachers and research fellow) as well as by regular contributors such as visiting professors, fellows, tutors or professionals.
Registration in DL on an individual basis is a personal choice of the candidates, no particular condition is required. The courses offered are intended for any person who, for various reasons, cannot attend the courses in class. The DL programs are intended more particularly for people who:

- have a professional activity;
- are simultaneously involved in other under/post-graduation programs (at another university, higher education institutions, etc.);
- are living away;
- are prevented from attending courses on the campus because of particular reasons (health concerns, prison detention, etc.);
- would like to complement and rise up their qualification with a degree in economics without changing their current lifestyle;
- are involved in high-level sports or artistic activities (high-level sports/artist students can benefit from adjustments in the pedagogical organization of their curriculum according to the regulations in force);
- are disabled and can benefit from special arrangements.
Conditions for application

- Whatever the type and level of program expected, the access to DL programs is subject to the decision of the Validation Commission.

- A relevant evaluation process requires a complete application file that must include all information about the transcripts of grades from the previous programs attended, and graduation achieved as well as possible professional experiences.

- You are advised to take meticulous care in preparing your application files; the commission's decisions are entirely dependent on the adequacy of the documents provided in the application file to the profile of the program targeted by the candidates.
There are possibilities of recognition (always by the competent commissions) of prior learning that can allow the validation of a certain number of credits and exempt candidates in certain courses of the DL program.

However, there is no automatism in the validation of prior learning which would be related to training outside the FEG, or to other disciplines or to personal and professional experiences.

The B-DLP also offers a specific program: “Bachelor's Degree in 1 year”, that includes a set of courses from the 1st, 2nd and 3rd year of the Bachelor's Degree in Economics and Management.

This degree is not a shortcut that would allow students to obtain the Bachelor degree in one year instead of the usual three years of study.

It is exclusively intended for candidates who already had a Master's degree (preferably an M2) other than in economics, or an engineering degree with some backgrounds in economics and management. Previous personal and professional experience may also be taken into account in the assessment of applications.

It is also possible for students to alternate, over a semester period or over the full year, the in-class programs and DL programs, provided that they comply with the specific regulations of each pedagogical model.
PARTICULAR ORGANIZATIONS

- Two work-and-training weeks (review sessions), one for each semester, are organized at the FEG in Grenoble (Saint-Martin-d’Hères campus) with the lecturers involved in the programs, usually in January/February and in April.

- These sessions are not mandatory, but are strongly recommended from a pedagogical point of view. They allow candidates to have personal contact with the teachers and to consider the various questions related to the courses/exams in real time and in the presence of the teachers and other students.

- There is also a work-and-training week around March/April for international partnership programs. Students from abroad, along with their teachers from their home university, are welcomed in Grenoble and attend different courses in class, visit different enterprises of the region and meet FEG staff.

- At each of these meetings, a qualitative and quantity evaluation of the programs is expected from the participants in order to allow the FEG staff to improve the organization and management of the DL programs.
EXAMS

- DL programs are assessed through final exams that are organized at the FEG in Grenoble under the same conditions as the exams for the face-to-face programs.
- Of course, in case of a health crisis such as the current Covid pandemic, the exams can exceptionally be organized remotely.
- Whatever the exam modality, the same conditions of validation are ensured for all candidates.
- The courses are structured in semesters and at the end of each semester, a specific session of exam is organized.
- The first semester exams are usually held in February, the second semester exam period is usually in June.
- A retake session is planned for all courses of both semesters towards the end of August-beginning of September.
- It is worth noting that from a regulatory point of view, it is not possible to organize exam sessions according to the personal considerations and commitments of each student.
- Therefore, it is not possible to take and/or retake the exams outside of the periods collectively scheduled by the DL Department.
- Candidates who do not pass their exams during the regular exam period must pass them at the retake session or the following year at the exam periods scheduled by the Department.
